

CALLING ALL NUNAVUMMIUT

How should your community participate in Canada's 150th birthday? Here's your chance to have your idea funded by the Canada 150 Fund and join similar celebrations across the country.

Project Description

Nunavut's Canada 150 Project will fund local celebrations in at least 10 Nunavut communities outside Iqaluit as the territory joins in the nation-wide year-long festivities. Do you have a vision of how to bring your fellow community members together for an event or collaboration in celebration of Canada—the past, present and/or future? Then apply to the Nunavut Canada 150 Fund!

What's the call for?

We want to hear your proposals for community events or projects that capture one or more of Canada 150's four overarching themes. Those themes are:

- the environment
- engaging and inspiring youth
- reconciliation between Indigenous and non-Indigenous people, and
- diversity and inclusion.

Some ideas to inspire you:

- A community hunt and feast
- Youth and elders collect and share childhood stories or artistic practices
- A short film about your unique community
- Traditional skills workshops
- A music-as-therapy workshop and concert series
- A mural or other art project that represents your community
- A cultural exchange with another Canadian community
- A youth theatrical performance for a visiting cruise ship
- A celebration of the diverse cultures in your community with food, dance, music and other performances
- A project which celebrates or gets people engaged with the environment and landscape of your community

Up to $25,000 per community will be awarded to projects or events that can:

- maximize the number of participants and volunteers
- draw on partnerships with other individuals or organizations
- create an event worthy of attention and pride
- foster positive community identity
- recognize and honour local heroes, places, events, customs
